DESGOFFE, Blaise Alexandre

Born in Paris, 1830. Nephew and early pupil of his uncle Alexandre Desgoffe, the landscape painter. Studied under Flandrin and Bouguereau, and eventually devoted himself to the painting of still life, in which he combined a marvellous accuracy of detail and color with breadth and brilliancy of effect. Medals in 1861, 1863, etc. Legion of Honor, 1878.

Blaise Desgoffe is the only still-life artist authorized by the French government to paint objects of art which are in the Louvre Museum. This painting was exhibited at the Exposition Universelle, 1889.

KRATKE

One of the three most eminent French aquafortists, whose etchings of the works of Corot and Meissonier have attained the highest fame. His paintings of Napoleon, during the French campaign, attracted great attention at the Salon of 1894.

Battle of Wagram

" . . . Napoleon was looking at the Tower of Neusiedel. At last he saw the firing by Davoust reaching beyond 'it. 'Go,' said Napoleon to an officer of his staff, 'quick, tell Massena to begin the attack at once, and the battle is won.' "

ZIEM, Felix

Born at Beaune, France. Studied at the Dijon Art Academy. Travelled and painted pictures in the south of France and Holland. Then visited Venice and Constantinople, and began the series of subjects by which his reputation was established. Received his first Salon medal, 1851. Legion of Honor, 1857. Officer, 1878. Ziem's pictures of Venice and of Constantinople were the first to do justice in modern times to the picturesque possibilities of their subjects. While preserving the material characteristics of his scenes, he invests them with a splendor of order in keeping with their historical associations and the spirit of the gorgeous past, of which they are magnificent if decaying monuments.

VOLLON, Antoine

Born in Lyons, 1833, and a pupil of Théodule Ribot. Antoine Vollon is a masterly painter of genre subjects, landscapes, marines, and still life, though it is by the latter class of pictures that he is most widely known throughout the civilized world. For instance, he secured his appointment as an Officer of the Legion of Honor, in 1878, by a picture of two fishes, which is now in the Luxembourg. He continues to paint landscape and the figure, when the mood is on him, with a vast breadth and freedom and truth to nature, in spite of the superior popularity won by his bold and powerful technique and splendor of color in his still-life subjects.
